Distributed run: one round as real messages between separate OS processes